

Paintings from a Residency in the Western Cape, South Africa, February 2019

The sea is Donald Teskey's principal subject this year, and for the first time Art First presents the breathtaking new paintings to emerge from his Western Cape Residency in South Africa during February 2019. His familiar scenes of the Atlantic ocean crashing onto rocks on Ireland's West Coast in Co Mayo, give way here to a south facing Atlantic and its meeting point with the Indian Ocean on the Southern most tip of Africa at Cape Agulhas. Looking south there is nothing between the Cape and Antarctica other than 3,800 miles of pure sea. False Bay, Cape Point, Kalk Bay; these are luminous, assured studies of places and natural forces by a painter who acknowledges a debt to the New York abstract expressionists as well as raw first-hand experience and they reveal an energy, a magical agility, in capturing the Cape's gorgeous skies, the distinctive mountain ranges, and wild often dangerous rocks.
